

Lourdes Calle has a BA in Social and Cultural Anthropology and a degree as Spanish Sign Language interpreter and guide for the Deafblind. She interprets in educational settings (secondary and higher education) and also does community interpreting with the Deafblind.

Since April 2011 she has been working as efsli project manager. She has been organising the efsli Working Seminar I (Utrecht, November 2011) and II (Hamburg, March 2012). At present she is coordinating the efsli online platform for curriculum development and preparing the Working Seminar III (Dublin, February 2013). The aim of these seminars and platform is to share expertise and ideas and to come to a consensus for a learning outcomes based curriculum for sign language interpreting programmes from all across Europe.
